PART 2
Income for the purposes of tax credits
CHAPTER 1
General

Calculation of income of claimant

3.—(1) The manner in which income of a claimant or, in the case of a joint claim, the aggregate income of the claimants, is to be calculated for a tax year for the purposes of Part 1 of the Act is as follows.

Step One

Calculate and then add together—

- (a) the pension income (as defined in regulation 5(1)),
- (b) the investment income (as defined in regulation 10),
- (c) the property income (as defined in regulation 11),
- (d) the foreign income (as defined in regulation 12) and
- (e) the notional income (as defined in regulation 13)

of the claimant, or, in the case of a joint claim, of the claimants.

If the result of this step is £300 or less, it is treated as nil.

If the result of this step is more than £300, only the excess is taken into account in the following steps.

Step Two

Calculate and then add together—

- (a) the employment income (as defined in regulation 4),
- (b) the social security income (as defined in regulation 7),
- (c) the student income (as defined in regulation 8) and
- (d) the miscellaneous income (as defined in regulation 18)

of the claimant, or in the case of a joint claim, of the claimants.

Step Three

Add together the results of Steps One and Two.

Step Four

Calculate the trading income (as defined in regulation 6) of the claimant, or in the case of a joint claim, of the claimants.

Add the result of this step to that produced by Step Three, unless there has been a trading loss in the year.

If there has been a trading loss in the year, subtract the amount of that loss from the result of Step Three.

(2) Subject to the qualifications in the following paragraphs of this regulation, and the provisions of Part 3, the result of Step Four in paragraph (1) is the income of the claimant, or, in the case of a joint claim, of the claimants, for the purposes of the Act.

 - (b) references to a sum being taxable are to be construed as including a sum which would be taxable if he were resident, ordinarily resident and domiciled in the United Kingdom.
- (6) In the case of a claimant who would be chargeable to income tax but for some special exemption or immunity from income tax, income shall be calculated on the basis of the amounts which would be so chargeable but for that exemption or immunity.

- (a) any banking charge or commission payable in converting to sterling a payment of income which is made in a currency other than sterling;

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Regulations)

These Regulations define what is income for the purposes of working tax credit and child tax credit under the Tax Credits Act 2002 (c.21).

Regulation 1 provides for the commencement and citation of these Regulations, and regulation 2 for the interpretation of certain terms used in them.

Regulation 3 sets out the steps to be taken to calculate the income of a claimant, or in the case of a joint claim, of the claimants for an award of either of the tax credits payable under Part 1 of the Tax Credits Act 2002 (c.21).

Regulations 4 to 12 set out the extent to which a claimant's employment income, pension income, trading income, social security income, student income, investment income, property income and foreign income are to be taken into account for the purposes of regulation 3.

Regulations 13 to 17 contain a series of provisions which treat a claimant as having income which he does not have.

Regulation 14 provides that if a person is treated as having income for income tax purposes under specified provisions of the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 (c.1) or under paragraph 1 of Schedule 13 to the Finance Act 1996 (c.8).

Regulation 15 provides that a claimant depriving himself of income in order to secure entitlement to or increasing the amount of a tax credit is to be treated as having it.

Regulation 16 provides that a claimant to whom income would become available upon the making of an application for it is to be treated as having that income. It does not apply if the income in question arises under a trust derived from a payment made in consequence of a personal injury, a personal pension scheme or retirement annuity contract, comprises compensation for personal injury which is being administered by a court, or a rehabilitation allowance under section 2 of the Employment and Training Act 1973 (c.50).

Regulation 17(1) treats a claimant who provides a service for another, either without payment or at less than the rate which would be reasonable for comparable employment in the area in question, where the other has the means to pay or to pay more for the service, as having such amount of employment or trading income as would be reasonable for the employment of the claimant to provide the service. The paragraph does not apply where the recipient of the service is a charity or voluntary organisation. Nor does it apply if the service is provided in connection with participation in an employment or training programme in Great Britain under regulation 19(1)(q) of the Jobseekers Allowance Regulations 1996 (S.I. 1996/207) unless it is provided in connection with the Intensive Activity period specified in regulation 75(1)(a)(iv) of those Regulations, or in corresponding circumstances in Northern Ireland.

Regulation 18 provides that income which is not otherwise dealt with in the Regulations, but which is chargeable to income tax under Case VI of Schedule D for the purposes of income tax, is to be taken into account in calculating the claimant's income under regulation 3.

Regulation 19 provides a series of miscellaneous disregards in the calculation of income under regulation 3.

A regulatory impact assessment in respect of the Tax Credits Act 2002 has been prepared and placed in the Library of each House of Parliament. A copy may be found on the Inland Revenue website (www.inlandrevenue.gov.uk).
