EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Regulations)

These Regulations amend the National Minimum Wage Regulations 1999 (the “Principal Regulations”). Regulations 1, 4 and 7 come into force on the day after the day on which the Regulations are made. The other regulations come into force on 1st October 2008.

Regulation 2 amends regulation 2(1) of the Principal Regulations by substituting “Government arrangements” for “arrangements made by the Government” to reflect the wording in regulation 12 of the Principal Regulations. It also clarifies that such arrangements can include arrangements made by the Scottish Ministers under section 2 of the Employment and Training Act 1973.

Regulation 3 increases the principal rate of the national minimum wage from £5.52 to £5.73 per hour (regulation 2 of the Principal Regulations). The Regulations also increase the rate paid to workers aged between 18 and 21 from £4.60 to £4.77 per hour (regulation 5(a) of the Principal Regulations) and the rate to be paid to workers aged below 18 who have ceased to be of compulsory school age from £3.40 to £3.53 per hour (regulation 5(b) of the Principal Regulations).

Regulation 4(2) amends regulation 12(6) of the Principal Regulations by substituting a new paragraph. The substituted paragraph (6) clarifies when workers on schemes made under Government arrangements qualify for the national minimum wage. It adds a requirement that a worker must be remunerated or entitled to be remunerated by the employer in order to qualify for national minimum wage. This is to ensure that workers who are in receipt of state benefits rather than remuneration from an employer do not qualify for national minimum wage. Reimbursement of expenses actually incurred in the performance of the work or reasonably incurred in order for the worker to perform his work are not considered remuneration. The substituted paragraph (6) also extends the period for which a worker participating on a work trial does not qualify for national minimum wage from three weeks to six weeks.

Regulation 4(3) amends regulation 12(7) of the Principal Regulations so that the regulation extends the period for which a worker participating on a work trial does not qualify for national minimum wage from three weeks to six weeks.

Regulation 6 amends the per day value of the accommodation amount which is applicable where an employer provides a worker with living accommodation. The amendment increases the amount from £4.30 to £4.46 for each day that accommodation is provided (regulation 36(1) of the Principal Regulations).

The Regulations contain a transitional provision. This provides that regulation 4 does not apply in relation to work trials that have commenced before Regulation 4 has come into force.

The Regulations contain a revocation provision. This revokes previous provisions which increased the principal hourly rate of the national minimum wage, the rate to be paid to those who qualified for the national minimum wage at a different rate and the daily value of the accommodation amount.
