Junior ISA – consultation on draft Regulations

In October 2010, the Government announced that it would create a new tax-free children's savings account, Junior ISAs. Junior ISAs will ensure parents have a clear and simple way to save for their child's future, following the end of Child Trust Fund eligibility from January 2011.

HMRC expect that Junior ISA accounts will be available from 1 November 2011, and today the Government published draft Regulations, amending the existing ISA (Individual Savings Account) Regulations, to provide for the establishment of Junior ISAs.

Copies of the draft Regulations are available at Draft Regulations on Junior ISAs on the HM Treasury website.

HMRC welcome comments on the proposed Regulations by the end of May 2011.
